Re: Curriculum Review by the Australasian College of Dermatologists

The Australasian College of Dermatologists is undertaking a review of the training curriculum for medical practitioners specializing in Dermatology in Australia. The aim of the review is to ensure that Dermatology training in Australia remains comprehensive, relevant and embraces new technology and education standards.

As the curriculum and training of Dermatologists may impact on your organization the College will be pleased to keep you informed about this process. The College may also need to discuss aspects of the curriculum with a representative of your organisation as part of the review.

To keep you informed and, if requested, to enable your active participation in the curriculum review process, please complete the form below and advise the College of the best way to keep your organization informed. Would you also please provide the name and contact details of a person in your organization that we could contact to discuss the curriculum should this be necessary.

Thank you for your assistance.

Yours sincerely
